

Job Opportunities at AV Designers

The Audio Visual Industry is an extremely specialised industry that requires a very specific individual.

We are looking for these specific individuals to join us and to give you the opportunity to join an amazing company that loves doing what we do.

What we expect from everyone at AV Designers.

1. You have to love you job
2. You have to be able to deal with stressful situations
3. You have to be able to think quickly and logically
4. You have to have the ability to deal with people
5. You must have a valid driver's licence.
6. You must have a good knowledge of computers and Microsoft Software
7. You need to be dedicated and driven to improve your abilities

AV technicians must be able to transport, assemble, maintain and repair equipment used in multimedia production. Knowledge of video, sound and lighting techniques is essential, and familiarity with editing equipment and software may be required.

AV technicians must be creative and flexible with strong communication skills and the ability to interact with co-workers and clients, often under extreme pressure. In addition to being proficient with computer systems used in multimedia production and things like PowerPoint. Audio visual technicians must be able to sit and stand for long periods of time and have good hearing and eyesight.

AV technicians frequently work early mornings, late evenings, weekends and public holidays. But we also take breaks when it is allowed and necessary. We also take about a 30 day holiday over the December holidays too.

We are prepared to train you to be a qualified AV Technician if you feel that you will fit into the above requirements, so if you feel that you have the ability to learn quickly then you are welcome to send us your CV too.

If you feel that you or, you know somebody that fits the following criteria please send this on to them.

Please send CV's with some background to why you feel that you would fit in to our industry, we will only consider people that have made the effort to read this carefully and give us reasons to consider you for an interview.

Send your information to cvs@avdesigners.co.za